ESTABLISHED BY C. B. GOULD, MARCH, 1866.

"Liberty and Union, One and Inseparable."—WEBSTER.

TERMS: $2.00—$1.50 IN ADVANCE.

VOL. 44

EMPORIUM, PA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1910.

NO. 42.

Visited Old Folks.

Harry F. Jordan, of New York city, visited his home-folks here last Saturday and Sunday. Harry has for five years been general accountant for John W. Masury & Sons, manufacturers of paints and varnishes, at their Chicago branch, but has been transferred to their main works at New York. The PRESS was favored with a social visit from our old friend on Saturday last and we enjoyed his call. His many Cameron county friends wish him well.

What of the Future?

The signs of the times indicate a new departure in the education of both boys and girls. For the past two score years or more the whole scheme of education seems to have been to secure proficiency in books and not in things practical.

At present there is a tendency to discredit books and give more attention to doing things.

Money, as such, is being discredited also, and an effort made to impress the pupil with the great and important fact that it is only what money does, and not what it is, that is worth considering. As a means to a worthy end money is most desirable, but as mere money it is of no real value to either the individual, or to the world.

A Box Social.

The Public is invited to a Box Social at the Baptist church, Friday evening, at eight o'clock. The guilty party is class 2, of which Mrs. M. Ramarge is High Mucky-Muck. All parties of the feminine gender, will please bring a shoe-box filled with the delicacies which appeal to the members of the male order. Gents, men, boys and all others, will please bring two dimes and one nickel which is the price set on the aforesaid Boxes. This is positively the last notice which we shall give of this affair. Come early and avoid tush.

Fishing Revised.

Bedford county fishermen were busily engaged last Sunday in fishing along the Raystown Branch. The fish were not hard to catch, as they were floating on top of the water, and many large strings were taken. It seems that, in some way a large amount of lime had gotten into the river, which had the effect of causing the fish to lie flat on top of the water—apparently dead—but it is said that they revive as soon as the water again becomes pure.

Marriage Announcement.

We are in receipt of the announcement of the marriage of Miss Florence Alice Charbonneau and Mr. Chas. Francis Papazoni, the happy event having occurred at Ishpeming, Mich., on Nov. 26th. The groom was formerly a resident of Emporium, being in the employ of the Keystone Powder Co., as chemist, and has a host of friends here, who wish him and the choice of his heart unbounded happiness. Mr. Papazoni is Supt. of the Jefferson Powder Co., Birmingham, Ala.

The happy couple arrived in Emporium on Tuesday and remained until this evening, guests of Mrs. A. C. Blum and Miss Maude Stead. They were royally received by our citizens and their visit made pleasant. The PRESS was honored with a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Papazoni this afternoon. Of course Chas. is O. K., but his bride is a very pleasant lady, a native of Canada. Best luck go with you.

Expert Accountant.

Mr. M. F. Miller, of Ridgway, for twelve years expert accountant in Elk Tanning Co., offices, has accepted and entered upon his duties as chief book-keeper of Cameron Powder Mfg. Co., at this place. Mr. Miller comes highly recommended as a gentleman and accountant of twenty years service. Mr. Miller has rented the Metzger home-stand, East Allegheny Avenue, expecting in his family here next week. We welcome them to Emporium.

Snow Ball Nuisance.

The snow ball nuisance is on in full force and many complaints are filed with the authorities. The most important one is the complaint of Mr. Elmer Klock, who was stricken in the face while passing along Allegheny Avenue. If parents do not caution their boys they may have a bill of damages to pay.

Returned From Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Benzet Leutze returned to Emporium from Williamsport last Friday morning. Mr. Leutze had been receiving treatment at that place under the care of Dr. Nutt. The trip proved to be beneficial. Mr. Leutze says too much cannot be said in praise of Williamsport Hospital.

The Churches.

EMMANUEL CHURCH.

REV. M. L. TATE, Rector.
The following services will be held at Emmanuel Church, next Sunday, the Second Sunday in Advent.

There will be a Celebration of the Holy Communion at 10:30 o'clock. The theme will be "The Scriptural Doctrine of the Second Advent."
Sunday School convenes at 12:00 m., in the Parish House.

Evening Prayer and Sermon at 7:30 o'clock. Theme: "The Great Day."

Advent Week Day Services are being held on Wednesday and Friday evenings. These services begin at 7:30 o'clock, and the sermons are based on the Seven Letters to the Churches in Asia. These sermons are short, plain and practical.

On next Friday evening all the members of Emmanuel Sunday School are requested to meet at the Church at 7:30 o'clock. An Advent Service will begin at the usual hour, and after the service the Choir will practice, and arrangements will be made looking to a Sunday School Christmas Service.

FIRST BAPTIST.

REV. J. L. BOGUE, Pastor.

10:30 a. m.—Worship and Sermon.

11:45 a. m.—Bible School.

6:30 p. m.—Y. P. Praise Meeting.

7:30 p. m.—Sermon, "Quitters."

The Quitter is the fellow with a Big Yellow Streak. He falls down when his friends and God Almighty have propped him up with the Eternal two-by-fours. There are Religious quitters, Political quitters and Commercial quitters. We also find them elsewhere. The characterizing trait of the Breed is "Knocking." Emporium has its full quota. We expect to discuss him from every view point, Sunday night. Yours for a good rap at the "Quitter."

JOHN L. BOGUE.

P. S.—The quitter always stays away from such services. Therefore you won't knock elbows with a single one if you attend this service.

FREE METHODIST, FIFTH STREET.

T. W. MURRAY, Pastor.

Preaching at the Free Methodist Church, each Sabbath, morning and evening, at 11:00 and 7:30 respectively. "Whoever will, let him come."

The Most Beautiful Thing in Emporium.

That is the most beautiful thing in Emporium, said a well known woman, the other day as she stood in front of the case of cut glass at Metzger's store and feasted her eyes on the beautiful display presented. There is nothing a good housewife prides herself on more than the appearance of her table, and it is surprising how much a few pieces of really good cut glass will brighten up a table, enhancing the appearance of the linen, silver and china. Metzger keeps only the choicest lines, but sells at popular prices. 42-4t.

Clearance Sale.

On Saturday morning, commencing at nine o'clock, we will conduct a big clearance sale in Parson's Bazaar, Fourth street, in order to make room for holiday goods in our big store. Rare bargains will be found and a visit to this sale will repay you for the time spent. Come early and make your selections.

H. A. ZARBS & Co.,

Emporium, Pa.

n-42-1t.

The Best Lighted Place in Town.

If you want to see a beautifully lighted room you are invited to call and inspect the store room of Metzger the Jeweler. You are not expected to buy unless you want to, but he would rather you would come and not buy, than not come at all, so everybody go and inspect the store, you will be welcome if you never spend a cent. 42-4t.

Notice to Hunters.

A warning is given hunters who go up Plank Road Hollow, to be a little careful what they shoot in that locality or they will get themselves into the hands of the law. The parties who killed the tame pigeons and chickens are known and may yet be prosecuted.

Has It?

If your Christmas present has the imprint of "Metzger the Jeweler" on it you can rest assured it is "A No. 1," the best that can be had, and of guaranteed reliability. Look for the same. 42-4t.

Property for Sale.

A property on West Fourth street for sale. Inquire of GEO. BARKER.

A Beautiful Tribute.

Hon. John McDonald Honored by Railroad Men and Fellow Townsmen.

Driftwood Gazette.

One of the prettiest tributes that could be paid to any man was tendered to Hon. John McDonald, supervisor of the Eighth division of the P. R. R., on Tuesday evening, when more than eighty persons assembled in the Ladies' Aid Society hall to honor our distinguished townsman. This gathering was for a two-fold purpose, to celebrate the seventieth anniversary of the honorable gentleman's birth, and to mark his retirement from the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The affair was arranged by Assistant Supervisor C. L. P. Russell, Clerk Daniel Donahue and the supervisor's seventeen track foremen, and a large number of his superior officers, railroad men and fellow townsmen were invited to participate in the event.

A special train was run from Renovo, arriving here at 6:25. The Driftwood band met the guests and headed the procession to the residence of Hon. John McDonald, who was escorted to the Ladies' Aid Society hall, where a bounteous and delicious repast, prepared as only the ladies of that society can prepare them, was in readiness. The tables were arranged in the form of a hollow square, with another table in the center for the chief guests, and the room was beautifully decorated with evergreen and tricolor bunting in the form of a cross, at the four corners and center of which hung railroad lanterns with various colored globes. A rack was erected on which was placed all the implements used by trackmen in railroad construction, and this was surrounded by a switch target.

After the invocation by Colonel Brookbank, Toastmaster Roe read a number of letters and telegrams from those who were unable to attend and made a spicy and complimentary speech, at the conclusion of which he introduced Mr. McCarthy as the first speaker. Mr. McCarthy's address was elaborate, covering every phase of the life of Mr. McDonald as a railroad man and worthy citizen and left very little to be said by those who were to follow him. However the speeches of Hon. G. W. Huntley, Col. J. O. Brookbank, Master Mechanic C. H. Potts, track foremen, railroad men and citizens were of such a tender and praiseworthy nature as to turn the head of a man less solid than Mr. McDonald. C. W. Hollingsworth, chief clerk to Superintendent Coughlin, and representing that gentleman, after a few praiseworthy remarks, read two letters—one from Superintendent Coughlin to Supervisor John McDonald, congratulating him on his attainment to man's allotted period, and referring to his excellent services to the company and to his retirement; and the reply by Supervisor McDonald—both teeming with love and good fellowship and marking the universal esteem in which the Hon. John McDonald is held by his superiors in office. Yet in all that was said in praise of Mr. McDonald we failed to note an expression that was overdrawn.

After the general speechmaking Judge Hall in a masterly speech, prefacing his remarks with one of the highest compliments that could be paid to any man, presented to Hon. John McDonald, in behalf of his assistant, Mr. Russell, and chief clerk, Mr. Donahue, a beautiful loving cup. Following this presentation Mr. Russell presented a beautiful and valuable watch as a token of the esteem of his track foremen and fellow railroad men. Appropriate inscriptions and designs were engraved upon both tokens.

In his reply Judge McDonald expressed his heartfelt appreciation of the tokens and words of praise bestowed upon him, and reviewed his life as a railroad man from the time he landed in Renovo in 1873, his work at St. Marys and again at Renovo, and his appointment as supervisor in 1880 with headquarters at Driftwood, down to his retirement. During that time he won five cash prizes for premium track, the last one for this year's work, which he magnanimously stated belonged to his assistant and clerk. He also gave unstinted praise to his track foremen.

"Auld Lang Syne" was sung and the company dispersed.

Mr. McDonald was twice honored by his fellow citizens by election to the second highest office within their gift and served them well as Associate Judge of Cameron county. For fifteen years he presided over the Driftwood school board and rendered excellent service. As a loyal citizen, husband, father and neighbor, the Hon. John McDonald has been and is a man among men. He has played his part in the great drama of life exceedingly well, and may he live many years to enjoy the fruits of his labor and at the end, when angel hands beckon him home, he may say with the psalmist, "Yea, Lord, my cup runneth over."

Twenty-five Years Ago.

On Monday morning, November 30th, 1885, at about two o'clock, the Old Warner House was totally destroyed by fire. Yesterday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the big fire. Mr. Riley Warner was the proprietor at the time and with his family and guests at the hotel had barely time to escape with their lives. The fire was caused by the explosion of a hanging lamp in the lower hall, near the main stairway—the explosion scattering the oil over the oaken, oiled stairway and causing the fire to spread rapidly through the building and cutting off all means of escape. The fire was discovered by Sheriff Smith, who occupied rooms in the bank building and S. H. Storrs, sleeping in the bank. They gave the alarm. Only a few of the mattresses which were thrown to the sidewalk were saved from the burning building.

Pleasant Letter from J. W. Kaye.

The PRESS is in receipt of a letter from our old friend and former townsman, J. W. Kaye, of Westboro, Wis., wishing the date of his PRESS, well into 1912, being the second farthest paid in advance—Hon. J. W. Cochran, of Ashland, Wis., heading the honor roll, his PRESS being paid to Dec. 1913. Would that we had more like them, in fact it would mightily please us if hundreds would keep within the law.

Mr. Kaye jots down a few items as follows: "We are having nice winter weather here at present, which is good for the hunters. Our open season is now on and the way the hunters are killing game is fierce. I will not go out this season, the family being a little under the weather. Mr. Jos. Lingle captured his deer the first day of the season. Thos. Dixon is still after his, he saw it a great many times but his gun shoots where the deer has left, so he keeps up the chase. Mrs. Lingle is 'under the weather' at present; also MacDonnell's children, all having had colds. With regards to all friends." Glad to hear from you, Will, and see that you are prospering and taking an interest in Westboro, your adopted home.

R. R. Brotherhood Song.

At the Theatatorium next Saturday night, "The Railroad Brotherhood" Song, composed by J. F. Sullivan, of Emporium, (better known as the "Huntley Poet," ) will be produced accompanied by 18 views from actual photos taken for the production. The views are fine and all should see them. The song is well written and the author now being a resident of Emporium, it is hoped the Theatatorium will be packed upon this occasion.

Baby Boy and Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schnee are the proud parents of a baby boy, who arrived at their home early last Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrick Barker, of this place, are happy over the arrival of a bright and interesting young daughter, who was born on Sunday evening.

Real health is assured only when every function of the body and brains works at the very best. Such a condition as that is assured every one who takes Krause's Phosphorets. Sold by G. C. Taggart.

Krause's Phosphorets and Brain Builder.

Bishop Chosen.

The thirteen counties in the northern part of the diocese of Pittsburgh that were set apart at the General Conference at Cincinnati to form the new diocese that now takes the name of Erie, held the primary convention on Nov. 16th, at St. Paul's in the Sea City. Bishop Whitehead, of Pittsburgh, was the celebrant at the Eucharist with which the convention opened. Archdeacon Radcliffe, of Ridgway, read the official call issued by the Bishop of Pittsburgh; also afterwards was elected Archdeacon of the new diocese. Rev. F. D. Cady, of Port Allegany, was chosen temporary secretary and later elected permanent Secretary of the diocese.

In the election of a Bishop eight ballots were taken. The leading candidates were Rev. W. Strother Jones, of Erie, and Rev. Rogers Israel, D. D., of Scranton, Pa. On the eighth ballot Dr. Israel had ten votes and Dr. Jones eight, the latter immediately moved that the election of Dr. Israel be made unanimous. The laity approved the choice made by the clergy by a vote of 35 to 18. At an evening session the following standing committee was elected: The Revs. Martin Aigner, J. E. Riley, D. D., E. E. Madeira, W. S. Jones, D. D., Col. E. V. Selden, Maj. J. W. Reynolds, Mr. Joseph Kay and Mr. H. K. Gregory. The annual convention of the diocese of Erie will be held at St. John's, Franklin, Pa., on May 24th, 1911.

The delegates from Emmanuel Parish were Rector M. L. Tate, Mr. Jos. Kay and Hon. Josiah Howard.

Dr. Jones, of Erie, Rev. R. S. Radcliffe, Ridgway, Rev. Houghwout, Meadville, Hon. Josiah Howard, Emporium and others, of the notification committee, went to Scranton on Monday and notified Dr. Israel of his call. They will receive his report in due time and report to the convention to be held next May. Some months will elapse before the new bishop enters upon his duties and in the meantime the new diocese has been placed under the care of Bishop Whitehead, of the diocese of Pittsburgh.

The committee on Episcopal endowment stated that $38,761 had been raised within the territory set off, of which the parish of Ridgway gave $7,000, Erie and Emporium, $1,000 each, and third places respectively. As the new diocese will receive one-half of the undivided diocese, it will gain its independent existence with an endowment of over $60,000. The bishop is to receive a salary of $3,500 and travelling expenses.

Miss Bair Entertains.

Last Friday evening Miss Julia Bair entertained several friends in honor of her sister, Miss Lena Bair, and her friend, Miss Hazel McClure, both of Olean. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing progressive hearts and fortune telling. Some novel fortunes were told and if they prove true some people will indeed be most happy. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. Those in attendance were Miss Josephine Murphy, of Ridgway, Miss Phyllis Deitman, of Buffalo, Miss Lena Bair and Miss Hazel McClure, of Olean, the Misses Ellen Auchu, Christy MacDonald, Julia Hogan, Elsie Kuehne, Hil-da Kuehne and Katie Kraft, of Emporium, and Mr. A. B. Brewer, of Ridgway, Messrs. F. J. Keim, Jr., W. G. Frome, Max F. Balcom, Arthur Catlin, Harry Anderson, C. Harold Seger, W. S. Sterner and W. H. Mitchell, of this place.

Take This Home and Try it on Your Piano.

When in doubt, get her a spoon. That may sound frivolous, but if you will stop, think, and question, you will find it the soundest advice you have had this Christmas season. For instance, is there anything a woman thinks more of than her table, with its silver and glass? No! Well to get a whole set of solid silver is quite an outlay, but you can get at Metzger's Jewelry Store a single spoon of any of the standard patterns, and you can always have them, one year after another, not only in spoons but in any of the hundred and one odd pieces, as well as forks, knives and ladies, and the expense is so little that you can afford to make extra presents on all the little anniversaries, and behold before you miss the money your wife has a respectable lot of solid silver, that is good, not only for her life time but for two or three generations after. 42-4t.

Krause's Phosphorets are a real system tonic and brain builder and every one of the ingredients is endorsed by Doctors. Sold only at Taggart's, $1.00 per box.

DON'T LOSE TIME.

One of the most successful men of America when asked to what he attributed his success replied:

"I built my fortune on the dial of my watch; seconds became pennies, minutes became dimes, hours became dollars. I gave a money value to every tick, and took advantage of everything that economized time. I never procrastinate; I never wait for other people to get ahead of me. I keep my eyes and ears open for opportunities; I look well into whatever seems good to me; when my judgement approves I act promptly and with decision. I don't know that there is any particular rule or law of success, but I'm pretty sure that one of the foundation principles is 'Don't lose Time.' Don't lose time in opening a Savings account in this Bank."

"Dare Devil Dan."

In William F. Mann's production of "Dare Devil Dan" there is afforded a great opportunity for the scenic artists. This they did not fail to take advantage of and from the admiration this part of this production has received, they should, as well as Mr. Mann, feel highly flattered. The mechanical as well as the scenic portion, was furnished by Bubler, Peltz and Carson, of the Criterion Theatre, Chicago.

The stunning gowns worn by Fluffy Ruffles are by Madam Bozzarrie of Paris, the musical portions by those famous composers, Peters and DeLong. The dramatic work is from the pen of Wm. Fletcher, and the whole, staged under the personal direction of William F. Mann, has made it one big howling success to be talked about. "Dare Devil Dan" is coming to the Opera House for one night, Dec. 7th.

PARTY IS UNITED

REPUBLICANS A UNIT ON THE TARIFF QUESTION

Adequate Protection to American Workingmen Is the Object—Taft and Roosevelt Think Alike on the Proposition.

Those who would like to see a split between Taft and Roosevelt are making much of the latter's recent declaration that the tariff plank in the New York platform is not entirely satisfactory to him. They argue that Roosevelt is not in accord with the president's tariff program.

Regardless of what he said about the action of the Saratoga convention, Colonel Roosevelt left no room for doubt as to where he stands on the tariff question, in the speech he made in St. Louis.

"The situation," he said, "is much clearer than some people would have us believe. The Republican party is united on the doctrine that the tariff shall be such as substantially to equalize the cost of production here and abroad. As the cost of production is mainly labor cost, the duty should be great enough to continue to give our laboring men the standard of wages they have now. It seems to me, and I think to the people of this country, that the methods heretofore followed in making tariffs are ineffective in correctly and justly applying this principle. We wish to give proper protection to business and above all to the workmen, as a matter of right and justice and not as a matter of favor or preference. Therefore, we feel that there should be a tariff commission to furnish congress with the information necessary to carry this principle into effect. Each schedule should be revised by itself in accordance with the facts developed by the commission. This will prevent log-rolling and the far-reaching disturbance of business which necessarily comes when all the schedules are revised in a lump."

That is the Taft program exactly. A tariff board is gathering the material necessary for an intelligent revision of the tariff, and the president long ago began exerting his influence to bring about revision by individual schedules. Whatever discrepancies may be found in Roosevelt's utterances in St. Louis should settle all questions as to what his tariff beliefs are. Furthermore, it is a clear and accurate statement of the attitude of the Republican party.—Cleveland Leader.

The Tariff and Prices.

"Advances in the cost of living are only the local reflection of a tendency that is world-wide, and cannot be truthfully said to be due to the present tariff."—New York Republican Platform.

A simple, direct and accurate statement—one that should be emphasized in every possible way during the next six weeks. There is widespread and for the present successful misrepresentation. Those who think little or not at all have been told the tariff is responsible for the high cost of things, and they are credulous. It will take effect to combat and overthrow this popular misconception, but it can be done.

It can be done because the facts are exactly as stated by the Republican platform. The new tariff, on an average, reduced duties—did not increase them. So far, therefore, as it has influence its tendency is toward lowering prices by making importation more easy. This is fact No. 1. Every newspaper that says or implies that a duty is a tax that is added to the price and paid by the consumer in effect declares that the Payne-Aldrich act has made prices lower than they would have been if it had not been enacted. Fact No. 2 is that the rise of prices has been as great or greater elsewhere in the world where our custom laws do not run. Fact No. 3 is that the advance of prices has been as great or greater on articles on the free list or on articles of which we produce a surplus than on protected articles. With these three facts as stones it will be possible to slay the Goliath of misrepresentation which is advertised as an unbeatable champion.—New York Globe.

Should Appeal to the Nation.

The program of the Republicans is the only one which will carry out the wishes of the nation as a whole. That program contemplates the fixing of the tariff rates at approximately the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad. Then American producers and workers will be sufficiently protected against cheap foreign labor, and at the same time the duties which have enabled men in some lines of industry to amass great fortunes without giving a full equivalent for them, will be removed.

Helping the Filipinos.

The Philippine legislature has reconvened and meets under encouraging conditions. The islands are making progress politically and materially. One striking feature is supplied in the fact that the government has a surplus of $1,000,000, this being the result of the favorable workings of the new United States tariff law, which was very liberal to the Philippines. With the money on hand it will be possible to prosecute various public works the benefits of which will be shared by all the people.

MR. TAFT AND WATERWAYS

President's Speech an Appeal to Patriotism on a Subject of National Interest.

The president's waterways speech is an appeal to patriotism on that subject. It is not an enunciation of new nationalism, for no nationalism has ever existed as respects our river and harbor problem. Mr. Taft wants nationalism established, and all future improvements based on it.

There can be no question of the president's facts, nor any quarrel with the soundness of his argument. We all know the evils of the system of appropriations hitherto made. Hundreds of millions have been wasted by it, and only meager returns secured from the money with reason justifying its investment. We have gone upon the proposition that Uncle Sam is rich enough to give us all not only a farm, but a navigable river, and we have drawn upon him for the water. We have struck his wallet with our rod, and obtained enormous sums for a very small volume of fluid.

The president would change this. He would not stint meritorious projects. On the contrary, he would provide the more money for them by cutting off appropriations for small projects which have their root in personal schemes and congressional "pull."

It is easier asked than granted. The pork barrel rests on human nature and congressional temptation. You tickle me and I'll tickle you runs through much of the business of men, both public and private. And the pork barrel the president discusses is not the only one that exists. Uncle Sam is supposed to be rich enough to give us all a public building, and is made to "run up" houses in some queer places.

Still, firmly based as the system is, and difficult of overturning, it should be overturned. The president's appeal should be granted. Some means should be provided for conserving treasury funds as respects drafts upon them not dictated by undoubted public necessities. Senators and representatives seeking re-election, and to make themselves the more "solid" at home, should not be permitted longer to vote themselves campaign contributions from the national purse.

Public sentiment alone can effect the desired result, and this should form on the president's views. The next congress will be called upon to deal with the matter, and it is not too soon to begin discussion. Who are on the president's side on a question distinctly non-political?

NO CAMPAIGN AGAINST LAW

Opposition to Payne Tariff Bill Is Spasmodic and by No Means General.

There is no campaign against the Payne tariff law, despite the hasty predictions of last spring. The bill has now been in force one year. There is some agitation against it, as there is against every tariff law. The arguments used against it, however, differ with every individual. They are controlled by local conditions. There is no steady, constant pressure against the whole document. There will be none.

This situation is remarkable, because this law has been more criticized probably than any other. This is an age of ready criticism. Former periods did not have "literary" magazines and Babies' Home Journals in the argument. Yet the attacks on the bill are made each man for himself, just as the different sections of the country wanted different articles protected while the bill was in preparation.

The chief arguments heard against the Payne tariff are matters of detail. They are urged by protectionists. Senator Cummins, the insurgent, is one of the strongest protectionists in the country. Even Democratic critics of the bill, like Governor Marshall, declare for protection. Only one prominent Democrat, Governor Folk, takes an intelligent issue with the whole law. He declares the tariff is an evil. The Payne law is only a form of the evil. The way out is free trade.

That is at least intelligent criticism, with an intelligible alternate. Governor Folk can notice nevertheless that the country has not adopted free trade. This is a protectionist country, and nothing shows it more clearly than his present solitude on a free-trade platform. The merits of the Payne bill must be considered with the doctrine of protection accepted as the prevailing American opinion.

Even in England free traders are shaky. In America they are chiefly anxious to be called by some other name, though their purposes are unchanged.

"The Republicans have no chance to win here," announces the Spanish premier. Did you ever hear a more successful imitation of a noise like a Democratic county chairman?

South Turns to Republican Party.

It has taken the country below Mason and Dixon's line a long time to overcome the effects of a century of slave-holding paternalism and the fearful ravages of the war of secession, but that time has arrived. The south is turning its attention to manufacturing, the building of railroads and the general development of its natural resources. It has infant industries and those interested in them want them protected by the tariff, to the utmost.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

States Aid in Cholera Precautions

WASHINGTON.—Dr. William K. Rucker of the public health and marine hospital service, recently left Ellis Island for Boston to confer with Commissioner of Immigration George B. Billings, the port medical staff and officials of the state board of health regarding the new and comprehensive plan for guarding the United States against possible danger from cholera suspects coming from Russia and Italy. This plan contemplates a surveillance of immigrants from the infected districts to their final destination in the United States, even though it be in a remote settlement of the west. Surgeon General Walter Wyman and his officers have worked days and nights perfecting the details and now believe that with the co-operation of state and municipal health authorities which they request, a cholera epidemic in the United States would be practically impossible.

The new system, which is supplementary to the rigorous medical examinations now made provides for a registry of immigrants from Russia and Italy by the immigrant inspectors at each port on the Atlantic coast.

The bureau has prepared a blank for the use of the inspectors whereby a simple system of checking and the writing in of the name of the immigrant and the town, street and number to which he is going will make a complete record of his origin and destination.

At the close of the day these "destination cards" will be collected by the chief medical officer and immediately mailed to state boards of health.

The state health official in return will be requested to mail the cards to the local boards of health. The theory is that should a case of cholera break out the local officials would immediately be able to identify it and take prompt measures, should the records show that the place harbored persons coming from a cholera infested district.

The treasury department and the department of commerce and labor have formally approved Doctor Wyman's plan, hence it goes into operation with all the force of the government behind it as far as United States officials are concerned.

It should be said that the bureau has no fear of a cholera epidemic in this country. The medical examinations of immigrants are very thorough and in devising this additional system Doctor Wyman merely covers a factor in the situation namely, the chance cholera bacillus carriers to whom no systematic attention has been given before.

Ask Honest Postal Law Enforcement

ANNOUNCEMENT is made at the post office department that under instructions from Postmaster General Hitchcock the inspectors "must get the crooks." Whereupon every sleuth has put his nose to the ground and sought an opening to land those who are trying to "get something for nothing" from the people. But it is also said that "they are going after every individual or concern whose business smacks of fraud regardless of its size or the influence which may be behind it."

Several days ago there came out of the same department a story to the effect that the inspectors were informed that they were not to "go it blind" and simply make cases, but that he would have to be able to "produce the goods" so as to have reasonable grounds for convictions in court.

No honest man wants to prevent the prosecution of frauds and crooks. On the contrary, there is a strong desire that all such persons should be apprehended and punished, but there have been examples of great injustice and wrong on the part of too eager post office inspectors who wanted to make a record and devoted much time to working up cases. There are also many people who, for revenge, or other cause, seek out post office inspectors and try to secure fraud orders against persons they dislike or whose business rivalry they fear.

If fraud orders could be reviewed in the courts it would not matter so much whether legitimate concerns were attacked by over-zealous men who are told "get the crooks," and went out to make records. But there are many little frauds who advertise a business and have a little room with a deal table and one chair; reap a small harvest and make a quick getaway, who should be pursued by the men who are trying to prevent the use of mails for fraudulent purposes. There is quite a field to cover by those who are in earnest and do not feel that in order to make a name and reputation they must pull down big concerns or get "big game."

Government Clerks Were Well Scared

TREASURY clerks were thrown into a panic the other day by the publication in a local paper of a story describing in alarming detail how Frederick A. Cleveland, the business expert, has been whizzing through the department of late, discovering inefficiency right and left and recommending discharges and salary reductions at a wholesale rate. Not only on their own account, but on that of their relatives and friends throughout the country.

As a matter of fact, the story apparently was made out of whole cloth. It has attracted attention at the White House, which has given orders that its origin be traced.

The actual work of reorganizing the treasury department is being done very slowly and quietly and without serious disturbance to any one. Six months ago the department entered into a contract with Arthur Young, who has made a thorough examination of the antique accounting system and of general business methods.

Mr. Young put eight men to work and the treasury department placed alongside of every one of them a check of its own, selected especially because of his known efficiency and enterprise. As a result the department now has in hand a staff of trained investigators of its own educated by the hired experts, whose reports to the secretary and his assistants have proved exceedingly valuable.

The treasury department hesitates to make sweeping changes in personnel until congress shall have passed some kind of civil service retirement act. Just before congress adjourned it had been planned to put through a limited retirement bill which could have enabled the department to retire several hundred aged clerks at practically a thousand dollars a year, but never reached publicity, much less congress. The government, however, recognizes more and more the need of a retirement law and the president and his cabinet are confident they could save money enough from the operation of one to pay the whole cost.

Hobble Invades Nation's High Court

THE hobble skirt, or what looked like a hobble skirt, the other day invaded the precincts of the United States Supreme court, where flowing robes are worn by the justices and where the lawyers who appear to argue cases generally wear the somber black of the bar.

The person who has precipitated all this discussion is Adeline H. Burd of New York. When she appeared in the courtroom and proceeded to take her seat within the inclosure reserved for members of the bar there was a hasty investigation. It did not seem likely that a woman lawyer who had attained the dignity of the right to practise before the Supreme court would be so swayed by feminine emotions as to don a skirt that showed tendencies toward the hobble idea. Some of the court officers, as a matter of fact, were not certain in their own minds that the hobble feature was there. That question has not yet been answered satisfactorily.

Anyway, Miss Burd was not molested. She is likely to go down in history as the first woman who by her appearance before the Supreme court proved that her sex can attain the greatest distinction in store for attorneys without putting behind it what is regarded as the feminine devotion to the dictates of fashion.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

ROSE FROM TELEGRAPH KEY

William A. Gardner, who 38 years ago struggled with the Morse code in a little railway telegraph office at Lemont, Ill., the other night rode out of the Chicago and Northwestern station on the president's special to inspect the 12,000 miles of . . . which sprawl over the great northwest as far as the Wyoming mountains. Two hours before that the directors of the road had made him president to succeed Marvin Hughtitt, who was given the newly created position of chairman of the board of directors.

The story of Mr. Gardner's rise to the place as chief executive of the Chicago and Northwestern is the consummation in reality of one of the business romances of which every youthful telegrapher dreams.

All the money which Mr. Gardner could control 38 years ago was contained in a pay envelope which the present-day union telegraphers would scorn to accept. Now he exercises control over the $53,000,000 annual expenditure for the operation of the Northwestern lines.

W. A. Gardner's "railroading" began with his work for the Chicago and Alton in 1872 at Lemont, where he learned to use the telegrapher's key. He was then in his teens, having been born at Gardner, Ill., November 8, 1859. He began his first work for the Chicago and Northwestern in 1878 and added to his duties as telegrapher those of division superintendent's clerk. From this place he rose to the position of trainmaster at Boone, Iowa, and remained there until 1883, when he went to a similar place with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

The next promotion that came his way made him assistant superintendent of the Wisconsin division of the Chicago and Northwestern in 1885. Five years later he became superintendent of this division and then rose successively to assistant general superintendent, general manager, and, in 1896, to the place as vice-president of the Northwestern lines. Mr. Gardner has a wife and four daughters.

In many respects his rise to the position of president of the road is similar to that of his predecessor, Marvin Hughtitt, who also began his career as a telegraph operator. When he became chairman of the board of directors Mr. Hughtitt had realized the ambition of his life as a railroad man. This was to see the new Northwestern $20,000,000 terminal station in Chicago practically completed.

CROSSES OCEAN 100 TIMES

Andrew Carnegie, now seventy-five years old, is not quite up to his usual form, according to those who saw him walking down the gangplank of the Baltic at her dock in New York recently. It was the end of his one hundredth voyage across the ocean. The ironmaster had greatly aged since he went abroad last May. Leaning heavily on the arm of his secretary, he stepped slowly and hesitatingly on his way from the steamer to the dock, showing less vigor than formerly on his annual return from spending the summer in Skibo castle, Scotland.

Passengers in the Baltic who have been on other voyages with Carnegie commented freely on how little he was seen on deck this trip. He kept to his cabin most of the time and the few appearances he made except in the dining saloon of the millionaire to his daughter. He followed her around continuously whenever he was on deck and was so devoted and attentive the other passengers described it as almost pathetic.

On the day preceding the boat's arrival Mr. Carnegie, at the ship's concert, first called for the song "God Save the King" and then at his request Mrs. Carnegie read the second verse of America. When her voice died away he recited the same lines, saying he is the possessor of the original manuscript written by F. Samuel Smith, which he holds as one of the richest prizes in his possession. Then his voice blended with all the others in singing the entire song.

Mr. Carnegie said it was his one hundredth trip across the Atlantic and his eighth voyage as a passenger on board the Baltic. "When I came to America forty-odd years ago it was on board a sailing ship," said the ironmaster, "a great contrast to the fast and luxurious steamships of today. There has been a change in the people here, too. They have been so sociable and friendly. The proudest thing in my life is that I am an American citizen."

NOW ACTING CHIEF JUSTICE

The most conspicuous figure on the bench of the United States Supreme court and one of the most distinguished men in the nation is Justice John Marshall Harlan, now acting chief justice. He holds the record for length of service, having been appointed in November, 1877. He is now seventy-seven years of age. Many men of half his age might well envy him his massive physique and the alertness and vigor of his mind. He is an ardent golfer and ascribes his wonderful health to this game and his life in the open air.

Justice Harlan is a Kentuckian and began practicing law when he was only twenty years of age. During the civil war he saw service for three years as colonel of the Tenth Kentucky regiment. President Hayes made him a justice of the Supreme court and President Cleveland appointed him a member of the commission which settled the long-standing dispute between the United States and Great Britain over the Bering sea imbroglio.

In 1895 the Supreme court was divided on the question of the constitutionality of an income tax. The tax was pronounced unconstitutional by the close vote of five to four, thus reversing a previous decision of the court. Justice Harlan was one of the four dissenting members and when he gave his opinion he did it with a vivacity of manner and a pungency of phrase which startled the dignified tribunal. In spite of his advanced age, he has no idea of retiring from the bench and those who know his mental and physical vigor can discover no good reason why he should.

WOMAN A COUNTY TREASURER

Valentine, Neb., is proud of the woman whom Cherry county elected county treasurer. Gertrude Jordan had served as deputy treasurer eight years and thus came in close touch with not only the politicians but the rank and file, winning popularity and later votes.

Miss Jordan is a native of Marshalltown, Iowa, and her parents (now dead) were of foreign birth, a mixture of Scotch, Irish and English. When very young she was taken to Dodge City, Kan., and there completed her schooling as a graduate of the local high school. Then she faced the world as a wage earner, beginning as a teacher in the public schools of that city, going later to Valentine in 1901, where she continued to teach.

Miss Jordan, being a progressive woman, early felt the call to a more wide awake and public career, so she readily obtained a position in the offices of the county clerk and county treasurer, and there made the best of her opportunities. She consented to run for the office, but many of her friends contended that she could not hold the office if elected. When the votes were counted she won out by 242 votes against two nominees. Then came a snag, says Human Life, for when she attempted to assume her duties one of the defeated candidates refused to turn over the office. Suit was entered by Miss Jordan in the Supreme court of the state, seven judges heard it, six concurred in an opinion favorable to Miss Jordan. The contest excited considerable comment from newspapers all over the country because of its unusual features.

Miss Jordan is the first woman in Nebraska to hold such a responsible position.

MINNESOTA STALLION BARN FOR BREEDING PURPOSES

Safe Harbor of Refuge Is Provided for Boys and Timid People With Mares—Also Aids in Securing Patronage.

The following description of a Minnesota stallion barn is given by M. T. Grattan in Breeder's Gazette:

The stallion barn fronts to the south and after passing office and carriage space comes the stallion boxes with stout plank doors opening in and double doors opening out. The stallions stand with their heads out at liberty, and as they never bite mares, couple of holes in north side of wall to receive them. The wing affords a safe place for party with mare. The bars make a pen for foal so the mare may keep her head to it. The bars also keep the mare from being shoved ahead and cramped. The top one will be at her breast and the bottom one at her knees. These bars should be strong, say 2 inches, and work easy.

A Minnesota Stallion Barn.

trying is done by leading the mare to the stallion's door. If found in season she is led to the northwest corner of the barn, off from the plank, onto a space 21x16 feet with cinder and earth floor and 14 feet to ceiling. A solid slide door 10x14 feet shuts this space off from the rest of the barn except a big box stall in which mares can be tied. For the breeding pen or chute proper the north wall of barn provides one side and the west wall of barn the end toward which the mare is led. Sink a couple of solid posts so as to have a pen 8 feet long from west wall and 4 feet wide inside. Lay sound 2 inch plank from the ground to a height of 3 feet 3 inches. Have the two posts outside of plank sawed to their height and edges smoothly rounded, as well as edges of planks at ends and on top. Sink another post from middle of pen south 4 feet. Just in front of this wing make a couple of holes to run a pair of 5 feet 6 inch gas pipe bars through and make a

Mares are bred in this pen or stall, those for the trotter always being hopped, but rarely for the draft horse.

The dimensions given may be varied and the part of stall back of wing hinged if desired. However, the hinges are not much of an advantage; the stall is wide enough so a mare's heels, by a sharp turn of her head, may be turned into the wall.

Often boys, or timid people, bring mares and the safe harbor of refuge behind the wing is much appreciated. It will help a stallion's patronage where competition is sharp.

The floor of the entire space should be covered with short stuff and chaff and kept scrupulously clean, wet straw and droppings being wheeled out after each visit. This arrangement is admirable also for handling a bull with safety. Up to this date this year—August 22—74 mares have been bred to the brooder, 98 to the draft horse and 62 cows to a Red Poll bull without injury to man or beast.

ORCHARD TREE PEST KILLED

San Jose Scale Controlled by Natural Enemy in Form of Disease of Fungus Growth—Checks Its Spread.

(By C. E. SANBORN, Entomologist, Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station.)

During the last two or three years this department has been experimenting with a natural enemy of the San Jose Scale. This enemy is a disease in the nature of a fungus growth. In southern latitudes it has been used even to a commercial extent for controlling the scale, but on account of the weather conditions of this state it has been supposed that such a disease would either fail to propagate itself during the summer or be entirely too delicate to withstand the low winter temperature. Careful experimentation, however, has proved the disease is very hardy and capable of propagation to a very beneficial extent in our infested orchards.

Often times diseases of a serious nature are introduced and scattered by insects and other agencies in general. This disease, however, is not capable of doing any damage to anything except the San Jose Scale and allied forms. Its use in orchards, groves, and public parks, as shown by our experiments, will be of a very great advantage in checking the local spread of the San Jose Scale.

It is of the same nature as the chinch bug disease but its appearance on infected insects is not nearly as conspicuous as the latter. To an ordinary observer it appears to be no more than the mold which is commonly present on damp bread a few days' old. It will live and propagate on bread and is apparently just as harmless to the higher animal life, but the microscopic examination of an infected San Jose Scale reveals it to be fatal to the latter.

Our experiments have been so conclusive in regard to the practicability of checking the San Jose Scale with this disease that we are now propagating it to an extent sufficient to enable us to supply gratis all interested citizens of this state who may request it. The conditions under which we shall send it out are that the party requesting it shall first submit specimens of scale to us for identification. If the submitted specimens prove to be the San Jose Scale we will send a small package by mail. No directions for application other than those following will be given unless especially requested.

Directions—The fungus is grown on a jelly-like material which is of amber color in appearance. The color of the fungus or disease is white. This material may become more or less disarranged in transit through the mail, but its vitality will not be lessened. Upon its receipt the applicant should paste small portions of it to his infested trees. The jelly-like substance will adhere nicely. The fungus will gradually scatter from one tree to another of its own accord, but will accomplish better results if artificially well scattered when first applied.

WANTED SATAN SENT NORTH

Good Example of Scottish Humor in Remark Made by Railroad Porter.

Scottish humor is dry rather than boisterous, and I always think there is exquisite drollery in the story of the Stonehaven railway porter and the Salvation Army "captain." To catch the hang of a little yarn readers must remember that Stonehaven lies to the south of Aberdeen. The London train had drawn up at Stonehaven on account of a slight mishap a mile or two ahead, and Andra, the old porter, had got into conversation with a Salvation Army officer who had popped his head out of the compartment to ask the reason for the delay.

"Aye, aye," mused Andra, after giving the desired information, "ye'll be for Aberdeen, I'm thinkin'?"

"Yes, my man," was the reply; "I'm bound for Aberdeen—a very wicked place, I'm told!"

"What might ye be goin' to dae there, sir, if it's as bad as a' that?" asked Andra, rather amused at the visitor's words.

"Ah," was the pious answer, "I'm going to drive the devil out of Aberdeen."

Like lightning came from the old porter the pawky retort:—

"See an' drive him north, chiel; haud him well to the north!"—Exchange.

MORE THAN EVER

Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Since Leaving Off Coffee.

Many former coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a better capacity and greater endurance by using Postum instead of ordinary coffee. An Illinois woman writes:

"I had drank coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent; had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation.

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady.

"Then I became less despondent, and the desire to be active again showed proof of renewed physical and mental strength.

"I am steadily gaining in physical strength and brain power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."

TARIFF NOTES.

Many of the European countries are trying to find a remedy for the high cost of living. It is observed that not one of them attributes the trouble to the American Tariff.—Troy Times.

While the prices of some commodities which are subject to duty are going down, those for coffee are going up. And coffee is on the free list in the Tariff law. Will our Democratic friends explain why this is thus?—Troy Times.

One hundred and fifty thousand mill hands in England are on a strike "on account of the high cost of living." That must be fierce in a country where they have no Protective Tariff to blame it on.—Cleveland Leader.

There was no Tariff insurgency in California's big Republican vote on Tuesday. The solid Republican delegation of the State will send to Congress will be for the Protection of California industries first, last and all the time.—San Francisco Chronicle.

AN OCTOGENARIAN PROTECTIONIST.

Says that the Republicans Could Have won Easily if they had Stood by their Guns.

American Economist.

I knew we Protectionists were being whipped out of our boots by our own blunders.

First of all, our honest President blundered in signally failing to stand like a rock for his friends against the dastardly attacks of his own and their enemies, the Insurgents, who were bound to rule or ruin. They were determined to wreck Eastern prosperity and throw our needy bread winners out of employment, not having the quality of brains to know that robbing our wage earners of their jobs would rob the West of a first-class market for its farm products. Short sightedness, thy name is adde-pated Insurgency!

The Protectionists began a mere defensive warfare by talking altogether too much about the real causes of high prices, instead of using two-thirds of that time and two-thirds of their printer's ink in striking straight from the shoulder; in charging Insurgents and Free-Trade Tariff Democrats with the deliberate intention of robbing needy bread winners of employment by cutting down Protection purposely to bring want and woe to our workmen; intending that wages be cut 50 per centum by compelling 5,000,000 to remain idle while their wives and children would suffer cold and hunger; and all this for the sake of office and its emoluments, and that those with money might thus live cheaply at the price of the blood and muscle of the needy.

Oh, that Republican spellbinders had but thundered these political truths in the ears of the people, instead of standing on the defensive; yea, hiding behind Quaker breastworks manned with Quaker cannon!

And then grand old Joe Cannon, the life-long champion of needy wage-earner, was almost forced to stand idly by and see the sneaking attempt to crush American workmen by Free-Trade Tariff Insurgents and Democrats. Aye, and Uncle Joe knows that nine-tenths, if not ninety-nine one-hundredths, of all the frenzied shrieking against him was inspired by the determination of the Insurgents and other Free-Trade Tariff foes of American workmen to crush labor under the iron heel of American markets glutted with foreign goods.

Will Insurgents gain by their dastardly conduct? Will Beveridge profit by his endeavor to crush our needy bread winners? Yes; I am sorry to confess that every Insurgent will gain, in that each and all would willingly part with an eye to destroy the sight of American wage earners.

They are without principle, save the principle of wrecking business sufficiently to destroy the prosperity of American labor.

Just mark how easily Foss, of Massachusetts, won by pure and undefiled brazen assault and false, frenzied charges to cover his own lack of truth?

Don't you remember, vividly, how wealthy Foss and millionaire Douglas worked their neat little bunco game? Recollect how they shrieked and yelled that if the 15 per centum were removed from hides they would see that shoes were materially cheapened?

Nevertheless, the very week that the 15 per centum duty was removed, these snakes in the grass put up the price of shoes from 50 cents to one dollar per pair.

Some people might call this tall lying; but far be it from me to use such rough language, and so I merely term it the practice of the strictest economy in the use of truth and veracity.

I began this article at 9 o'clock to-night, and it is now 10:35. Time and space fail, and I pause upon the threshold of the subject by closing with some queries: Shall we remain behind the paper breastworks and allow the enemy to do all the assaulting; or shall we charge the enemy with shot, shell and fixed bayonets?

P. S. "We'll whip them to a frazzle," shrieked the Boss. But hear Sherman, Woodruff and Barnes' merry ha! ha!

Garner--Strader.

Miss Lida Garner, of Danville, Pa., and Mr. Homer E. Strader, of Chinchilli, Pa., were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents on Tuesday morning, November 22nd, the Rev. J. W. Hayes, of Bloomsburg, performing the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Miss Estella Garner and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her attendants were her two sisters, the Misses Melissa and Adeline Garner and Mr. D. L. Garner did the honors of best man. The bride was becomingly gowned in white liberty satin, trimmed with Spanish lace and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. After a reception the bridal couple, accompanied by Miss Bessie Garner, came to Emporium, arriving here on the flyer, in the afternoon and were escorted to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graham, Mrs. Graham being an aunt of the bride. A reception was given in the evening in honor of the bride. Those in attendance were:

"Dare Devil Dan."

This attraction is no doubt the most popular priced production playing the city time-to-day. It's a musical melodrama. The comedy is furnished by real comedians of recognized ability. Summoning it up, it's a great big production and a theatrical treat to look forward to. At the Opera House, Wednesday evening, Dec. 7th.

Reduction in Hardware.

A big reduction of 20 per cent. will be made on all enamel and tin ware and in fact all articles in the hardware line. Save a dollar here on every five dollar purchase. A trial will convince you.

Doing Their Duty.

Scores of Emporium Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow; urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Emporium people endorse our claim.

Mrs. William Swartz, Maple street, Emporium, Pa., says: "I am very grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me. My back ached severely and my loins pained me. I could hardly get around to attend to my work and when morning came, I was so tired and languid that I did not feel like getting up. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and gave proof that my kidneys were at fault. On a friend's advice I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from Taggart's Drug Store and their use brought relief, although I had previously taken other remedies without the least effect. I am pleased to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents, Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Many persons find themselves affected with a persistent cough after an attack of influenza. As this cough can be promptly cured by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it should not be allowed to run on until it becomes troublesome. Sold by all dealers.

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results, and restore the natural action of the kidneys and bladder. They correct irregularities. For sale by Emporium Drug Co.

Columbus discovered America, Balboa discovered the Pacific Ocean, and William F. Mann presents "Dare Devil Dan," the coming attraction to be seen at the Opera House, on Wednesday evening, Dec. 7th.

W. C. T. U.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Metzger, on Thursday evening, Dec. 8th, at 7:30 o'clock.

FOR THE MERE MAN.

When In Doubt Make Him a Pocket Stamp Case.

The stamp case for carrying in the waistcoat pocket will prove an acceptable little present for a man and should be made in two pieces, the upper portion holding the stamps being slightly smaller in size than the other part of the case, into which it may be slipped. The case can be made from any small remnants of silk, and when complete it should measure not more than two inches by one and a half. The back portion of each part should be stiffened with a piece of thin cardboard, and an ordinary visiting card cut to the size required will answer the purpose very well. A small loop of narrow ribbon is sewed in the center of the upper part of the case by which it may be pulled from the lower part when a stamp is required. The sketch so clearly shows the nature of this little article that further description is scarcely necessary.

A Lawyer's Bag.

One hears it at every turn, "Men are so difficult to buy for." And it is the Christmas present for Bob, Jack or Tom that some devoted woman is hunting. If she were just once to get away from the idea of "frivolous" the road would be straighter and she might walk right up to the very thing she seeks—for instance, a lawyer's bag made of dark bottle green kersey cloth, exactly the size of the old one, unless there has been complaint of its awkward proportions.

These bags usually are drawn up with mohair braid, two strings of it, and the ends sewed together by a flat lapping process, admitting of easy pulling open and shut. Neither bows nor knots are allowable, and in order to insure the easy working of this convenient gift the casing must be of generous width.

A Happy Suggestion.

There never was a man who didn't enjoy having a match scratcher handy when he wanted to light his pipe. Take a heavy card 7 by 9 inches, either white or cream, and gild the edge by putting on gold paint in little irregular splashes; also gild a clay pipe to hold matches, tie diagonally across the center of card by punching two holes close to the bowl, one each side of the stem and again near the end of stem, run ribbon through and tie in bow. Cut large heart from sandpaper, gild and paste to lower corner. In the upper corner letter with gold paint, "A Striking Proof of My Affection." Make two holes at center of top, run ribbon through and tie in a bow on the right side.

He'll Find It Useful.

A pretty worker's companion either for a man or a woman is made in the following manner: Take a skewer or an odd knitting needle (a wooden one) and put a few spools of cotton on it.

HANGING SPOOL HOLDER.

Tie a bow of ribbon on each end. Then make a long loop of ribbon with another bow at the top. After the first spool at each end of the skewer attach a ribbon to hang down. Two small dolls are then seated on this novel swing and are dressed very prettily, to be used as pincushions.

A Brush of Velvet.

For the wearer of the silk hat, whether he be father or grandfather, there may be made by one of the little ones at home a soft pillow of plush.

Plush will make a better hat smoother than velvet and, whether it be of soft blue, of glaring scarlet, of vivid purple or merely a quiet gray, will depend on father's taste—on his previous expressions as to color. Some men want the brightest, others the dullest tones possible, but few of them want those shades that lie between.

When finished the plush pad will measure three inches by six, and it is filled with cotton to a desirable softness and pliability, but not stuffed.

PRESENTS CHILDREN CAN MAKE.

Frog Pen-wiper For Father and a Useful Cape Grandma Would Appreciate.

However nice a bought Christmas present may be, it is quite certain that as a child's gift a mother or father, aunt or uncle—indeed, any grownup relative—would prefer something made by the little donor herself. In this column a few home-made presents which can quite easily be made by children are described, and none of them costs more than a trifle to make.

First of all, there is the frog pen-wiper. To make this gift a strip of light green cloth or velvet, seven inches long by three and a half wide, is required. This must be marked into four divisions. The lower portion should be lined with flannel. Sew the edges together and turn up a quarter of an inch at the bottom and glue this to a round circle of card, so that you have a bag with a cardboard bottom. Next cut a piece of card twice the size of one of the flaps and cover it in red flannel, making a hole half an inch wide in the middle. Fold this card and after padding each flap with cotton wool sew the flaps to each side of the hinge. Two small boot buttons for eyes on the top flaps and you have something very like a wide mouthed frog sitting up. Now fill the body through the mouth hole with small shot and draw a pen through the opening.

Useful Gift For Grandma.

A useful gift for grandma or an invalid friend is a cape made of plain or figured elderdown or outing flannel thirty-six to forty inches wide. Fold and cut material into a true square; cut from one point to center, then cut a round opening for neck. Finish the edge by hemming with some fancy stitch with a crocheted border or bind with ribbon. Tie with bow at the neck.

Ribbon should match colors in material. For invalids there is no better wrap, as it can be put on and taken off so easily and when made of pretty colors gives a touch of brightness which is very cheery and pleasing to the sight.

An Easy to Make Box.

A handkerchief box is a simple present for a child to make. Cut a piece of card six inches square. Then cut four pieces each six inches long and two wide for the sides and four more six inches long and three wide for the lid flaps. These should have one long edge straight and the other rounded. Now on the square place a piece of cotton padding, scented with a good sachet powder, and over that a square of bright silk. Stitch this down, binding with narrow silk braid, and then pad and cover the four sides and lid flaps. Next take a piece of silk or silkette three inches wide and a yard and a quarter long and gather it top and bottom. Hem the four sides on to the bottom and draw up the puff around the sides with a ribbon drawstring.

Two Gift Books.

Take a piece of water color paper, any size, fold in center, paint some pretty design, flowers or scenery, and diagonally the words in gold paint, "Guest Book." Use plain note paper for leaves and tie with ribbon to match color of design painted. Attach to this a program pencil and cord.

A baby book is made the same way, using blue forgetmenots scattered all over the cover, blue ribbons and blue or white pencil.

Knitted Wash Cloths.

Almost all children like to crochet. They can make really useful presents in shape of wash cloths of heavy white knitting cotton. Make a chain of twenty-five or more stitches, according to the size liked, and work in simple crochet stitch until the rag is square. A border of blue or pink cotton can be worked into a simple shell by the older children.

A Work Tray.

A linen covered work tray has fourteen spoons of silk lined around the edge. The middle of the tray is embroidered in repousse daisy work and there is a heart shaped pincushion.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

A TOY AEROPLANE.

Captive airships which whiz around on a string are complete in every detail, and those made in celluloid are splendid toys that boys will be delighted to receive for Christmas presents.

The popularity of electric traction is reflected in the increased sales of electric trains and trams. The motorcar and taxicab figure prominently on the shelves. These are provided with hooters, adjustable hoods, windows which can be lowered, glass screens, lamps and even the telltale taximeter itself.

Monkeys and bears on trapezes, which squeal and grunt continually, are new and are bound to cause endless fun. There are those which turn innumerable somersaults until the motive power gives out.

In the parlor and board game department new ideas are rampant. The old fashioned Christmas tree may be superseded by the lucky pies, a big box full of prizes bearing numbers, which have to be drawn for.

The Always Popular Tool Chest.

There are few boys who are not "tickled to death" when Santa Claus leaves them a tool box, and now that manual training is taught in the schools most boys know how to use the tools intelligently. But they must be of the best quality to be of any practical value. And a watch! Well, the height of a boy's glory is reached when he gets a really truly timepiece. The popularity of the watch is well exemplified in one of Mr. Dooley's famous stories, in which the hero prayed for a watch as a Christmas gift, but, much to his disgust, received a hair chain that raved.

Things a Boy Likes.

He likes a pair of hockey skates, footballs, an air rifle, college pennants, a desk, games, jackknives, tie clips, and if you want to delight his heart give him a silver pocketknife with his monogram on it. School and college pins and just now the monogram scarf-pin may be what he'll want. Among more useful presents are to be found sweaters, school or dress suits. If the boy is interested in wireless telegraphy all kinds of batteries and appliances will help along the cause. Should you want a present for the small boy or for one of larger growth who belongs to a drum corps get him a really good drum and he'll be happy, but his parents probably will suffer. What difference? It's Christmas!

What a Girl Likes.

If she is a wee lassie who can just trundle a doll's carriage or is old enough to feel the real responsibility of a dollie as big as herself, she'll like nothing better than one of the up to date baby carts exactly like those a real baby takes her airing in. The carriage illustrated is a new model put out for the Christmas trade and the cheapest of them sells for $3.50. The shape is the same at all prices, the difference being merely in the appointments of the carriage. Of course the very wee girl will have an old fashioned model or a very tiny replica of this new variety.

Proud as Punch is the small girl when she wears her set of furs that Kris Kringle has brought her. This year there is a fascinating assortment of these sets, ranging all the way from ermine to the near ermine, which is just plain rabbit or cat, but pretty and dainty nevertheless. Chinchilla is an attractive pelt for young girls, and lately even the black furs have been considered smart for youthful wearers.

Saved From Awful Death.

How an appalling death in his family prevented is told by A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 8. "My sister had consumption," he writes, "she was very thin and pale, had no appetite and seemed to grow weaker every day, as all remedies failed, till Dr. King's New Discovery was tried, and so completely cured her, that she has not been troubled with a cough since. It's the best medicine I ever saw or heard of." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages—all bronchial troubles, it has no equal, 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

A Simple Safeguard for Mothers.

Mrs. Gilkenson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house." Accept no substitute. For sale by Emporium Drug Co.

Wants to Help Some One.

For thirty years J. F. Boyer, of Fertile, Mo., needed help and couldn't find it. That's why he wants to help some one now. Suffering so long himself he feels for all distress from Backache, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, Lassitude and Kidney disorders. He shows that Electric Bitters work wonders for such troubles. "Five bottles, he writes, wholly cured me and now I am well and hearty." It's also positively guaranteed for Liver trouble, Dyspepsia, Blood Disorders, Female Complaints and Malaria. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

Run Over by an Ox Team.

It is seldom that we hear of ox teams nowadays, but there are many people who feel so lazy and drowsy that if an ox team came along they would not feel able to get out of the way. For such people there is no remedy equal to Senné Pills, the great nerve and body builders. Price $1 a box; six boxes $5, with full guarantee. Address or call at Dodson's Drug Store, Emporium, where they sell all the principal remedies and do not substitute.

You Must Read This if you Want the Benefit.

J. W. Grier, Greenwood, La., suffered with a severe case of Lumbago. "The pains were so intense I was forced to hypodermic injections for relief. These attacks started with a pain in the small of my back which gradually became fairly paralyzing. My attention was attracted to Foley's Kidney Remedy, and I am glad to say that after using this wonderful medicine I am no longer bothered in any way by my old enemy lumbago." For sale by the Emporium Drug Co.

If you are suffering from biliousness, constipation, indigestion, chronic headache, invest one cent in a postal card, send to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, with your name and address plainly on the back, and they will forward you a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Sold by all dealers.

TAKE CARE!

Remember that when your kidneys are affected, your life is in danger. M. Mayer, Rochester, N. Y., says: "My trouble started with a sharp shooting pain over my back which grew worse daily. I felt sluggish and tired, my kidney action was irregular and infrequent. I started using Foley Kidney Pills. Each dose seemed to put new life and strength into me, and now I am completely cured and feel better and stronger than for years." For sale by Emporium Drug Co.

Ends Winter's Troubles.

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skins, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Anise Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Boils, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25c at all druggists.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the metallic cough of croup, bringing dread to the household. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. It contains no opiates. Sold by Emporium Drug Co.

A sprained ankle will usually disable the injured person for three or four weeks. This is due to lack of proper treatment. When Chamberlain's Liniment is applied a cure may be effected in three or four days. This liniment is one of the best and most remarkable preparations in use. Sold by all dealers.

Banks On Sure Thing Now.

"I'll never be without Dr. King's New Life Pills again," writes A. Shingee, 647 Elm St., Buffalo, N. Y. "They cured me of chronic constipation when all others failed." Unequaled for Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Headache, Chills, Malaria and Debility. 25c at all druggists.

The greatest danger from influenza is of its resulting in pneumonia. This can be obviated by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as it not only cures influenza, but counteracts any tendency of the disease towards pneumonia. Sold by all dealers.

We 'm got a new toy up 'our house, It ain't no bigger 'ner a mouse, Its eyes is blue, like sister's doll, An' it 's no more hair than a billiard ball. It makes such faces, ye never saw Their like in all your life before. He's soft as ' squishy as a cat, An' seems to love to sing an' chat, Though so far, far as I have heard, "Goo-gah" 's his one and only word. He says it ninety times a day, Though what it means I cannot say, So far—I think it's mighty queer— They do not like to let me near, An' when I've ast to take him out They holler, "No!" My, how they shout! But Paw and Maw, they do a pile Of playin' with him all the while. I hope some time the day will come When I can play round with him some, For 'all the toys I ever see He is the best of all that be. You'd almost think, to hear him squeal, That he was really, really real!

His remains will arrive at Emporium Junction, to-morrow (Friday) on Erie Mail. The remains will be conveyed to Newton Cemetery for burial. Undertaker C. W. Rishell will be in charge.

LAWTON.

Thos. Lawton, aged 68, who worked in this section for several years, died suddenly, last Wednesday evening, at the residence of Jacob Kreitner at Gardau, in whose employ he had been for some time. Undertaker Rishell drove up late at night, bringing his remains to LaBar's undertaking room. His remains were interred in Wiley cemetery last Friday. He evidently had no friends in this section.

Don't Overlook This Feature.

In the hurry of selecting Christmas presents you should not forget the important feature of reliability in anything you give as a present. This is best illustrated in this way: The House of Metzger the Jeweler, was established in 1863, and any present bearing the imprint of this establishment, has reliability in the broadest sense of the word guaranteed to it. If you should receive a gift that was bought at this establishment, that does not prove absolutely all that it was recommended, you will confer a great favor upon the proprietor by bringing it back and allowing us to make it satisfactory.

SYNOPSIS.

Miss Innes, spinster and guardian of Gertrude and Halsey, established summer headquarters at Sunnyside. Arnold Armstrong was found shot to death in the hall. Gertrude and her fiancé, Jack Bailey, had conversed in the billiard room shortly before the murder. Detective Jamieson accused Miss Innes of holding back evidence. Cashier Bailey of Paul Armstrong's bank, defunct, was arrested for embezzlement. Paul Armstrong's death was announced. Halsey's fiancée, Louise Armstrong, told Halsey that while she still loved him, she was to marry another. It developed that Dr. Walker was the man. Louise was found unconscious at the bottom of the circular staircase. She said something had brushed by her in the dark on the stairway and she fainted. Bailey is suspected of Armstrong's murder. Thomas, the lodgekeeper, was found dead with a note in his pocket bearing the name "Lucien Wallace." A ladder found out of place deepens the mystery. The stables were burned, and in the dark Miss Innes shot an intruder. Halsey mysteriously disappeared. His auto was found wrecked by a freight train. It developed Halsey had an argument in the library with a woman before his disappearance. New cook disappears. Miss Innes learned Halsey was alive.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Who Is Nina Carrington?

The four days, from Saturday to the following Tuesday, we lived, or existed, in a state of the most dreadful suspense. We ate only when Liddy brought in a tray, and then very little. The papers, of course, had got hold of the story, and we were besieged by newspaper men. From all over the country false clews came pouring in and raised hopes that crumbled again to nothing. Every morgue within 100 miles, every hospital, had been visited, without result.

The inaction was deadly. Liddy cried all day, and because she knew I objected to tears, sniffled audibly around the corner.

"For heaven's sake, smile!" I snapped at her. And her ghastly attempt at a grin, with her swollen nose and red eyes, made me hysterical. I laughed and cried together, and pretty soon, like the two old fools we were, we were sitting together weeping into the same handkerchief.

On Tuesday, then, I sent for the car and prepared to go out. As I waited at the porte-cochere I saw the undergardener, an inoffensive, gray-haired man, trimming borders near the house. The day detective was watching him, sitting on the carriage block. When he saw me, he got up.

"Miss Innes," he said, taking off his hat, "do you know where Alex, the gardener, is?"

"Why, no. Isn't he here?" I asked. "He has been gone since yesterday afternoon. Have you—employed him long?"

"Only a couple of weeks."

"Is he efficient? A capable man?"

"I hardly know," I said vaguely. "The place looks all right, and I know very little about such things. I know much more about boxes of roses than bushes of them."

"This man," pointing to the assistant, "says Alex isn't a gardener. That he doesn't know anything about plants."

"That's very strange," I said, thinking hard. "Why, he came to me from the Drays, who are in Europe."

"Exactly." The detective smiled. "Every man who cuts grass isn't a gardener, Miss Innes, and just now it is our policy to believe every person around here a rascal until he proves to be the other thing."

Warner came up with the car then, and the conversation stopped. As he helped me in, however, the detective said something further.

"Not a word or sign to Alex, if he comes back," he said cautiously.

I went first to Dr. Walker's. I was tired of hearing about the bush, and I felt that the key to Halsey's disappearance was here at Casanova, in spite of Mr. Jamieson's theories.

The doctor was in. He came at once to the door of his consulting room, and there was no mask of cordiality in his manner.

"Please come in," he said curtly.

"I shall stay here, I think, doctor. I did not like his face or his manner; there was a subtle change in both. He had thrown off the air of friendliness, and I thought, too, that he looked anxious and haggard."

"Dr. Walker," I said, "I have come to you to ask some questions. I hope you will answer them. As you know, my nephew has not yet been found."

"So I understand," he said stiffly.

"I believe, if you would, you could help us, and that leads to one of my questions. Will you tell me what was the nature of the conversation you held with him the night he was attacked and carried off?"

"Attacked! Carried off!" he said, with pretended surprise. "Really, Miss Innes, don't you think you exaggerate? I understand it is not the first time Mr. Innes has—disappeared."

"You are quibbling, doctor. This is a matter of life and death. Will you answer my question?"

"Certainly. He said his nerves were bad, and I gave him a prescription for them. I am violating professional ethics when I tell you even as much as that."

"I could not tell him he lied. I think I looked it. But I hazarded a random shot."

"I thought perhaps," I said, watching him narrowly, "that it might be about Nina Carrington."

"For a moment I thought he was going to strike me. He grew livid, and a small crooked blood-vessel in his temple swelled and throbbed curiously. Then he forced a short laugh.

"Who is Nina Carrington?" he asked. "I am about to discover that," I replied, and he was quiet at once. It was not difficult to divine that he feared Nina Carrington a good deal more than he did the devil. Our leave-taking was brief; in fact, we merely stared at each other over the waiting room table, with its litter of year-old magazines. Then I turned and went out.

"To Richfield," I told Warner, and on the way I thought, and thought hard.

"Nina Carrington, Nina Carrington," the roar and rush of the wheels seemed to sing the words. "Nina Carrington, N. C." And I then knew, knew as surely as if I had seen the whole thing. There had been an N. C. on the suit case belonging to the woman with the pitted face. How simple it all seemed. Mattie Bliss had been Nina Carrington. It was she Warner had heard in the library. It was something she had told Halsey that had taken him frantically to Dr. Walker's office, and from there perhaps to his death. If we could find the woman, we might find what had become of Halsey.

We were almost at Richfield now, so I kept on. My mind was not on my errand there now. It was back with Halsey on that memorable night. What was it he had said to Louise, that had sent her up to Sunnyside, half wild with fear for him? I made up my mind, as the car drew up before the Tate cottage, that I would see Louise if I had to break into the house at night.

Almost exactly the same scene as before greeted my eyes at the cottage. Mrs. Tate, the baby-carriage in the path, the children at the swing—all were the same.

She came forward to meet me, and I noticed that some of the anxious lines had gone out of her face. She looked young, almost pretty.

"I am glad you have come back," she said. "I think I will have to be honest and give you back your money."

"Why?" I asked. "Has the mother come?"

"No, but some one came and paid the boy's board for a month. She talked to him for a long time, but when I asked him afterward he didn't know her name."

"A young woman?"

"Not very young. About 40, I suppose. She was small and fair-haired, just a little bit gray, and very sad. She was in deep mourning, and, I think, when she came, she expected to go at once. But the child, Lucien, interested her. She talked to him for a long time, and, indeed, she looked much happier when she left."

"You are sure this was not the real mother?"

"O mercy, no! Why, she didn't know which of the three was Lucien. I thought perhaps she was a friend of yours, but, of course, I didn't ask."

"She was not—pock-marked?" I asked at a venture.

"No, indeed. A skin like a baby's. But perhaps you will know the initials. She gave Lucien a handkerchief and forgot it. It was very fine, black-bordered, and it had three hand-worked letters in the corner—F. B. A."

"No," I said with truth enough, "she is not a friend of mine." F. B. A. was Fanny Armstrong, without a chance of doubt.

With another warning to Mrs. Tate as to silence, we started back to Sunnyside. So Fanny Armstrong knew of Lucien Wallace, and was sufficiently interested to visit him and pay for his support. Who was the child's mother and where was she? Who was Nina Carrington? Did either of them know where Halsey was, or what had happened to him?

CHAPTER XXVIII.

A Tramp and the Toothache.

The bitterness toward the dead president of the Traders' bank seemed to grow with time. Never popular, his memory was execrated by people who had lost nothing, but who were filled with disgust by constantly hearing new stories of the man's grasping avarice.

But, like everything else those days, the bank failure was almost forgotten by Gertrude and myself. We did not mention Jack Bailey; I had found nothing to change my impression of his guilt, and Gertrude knew how I felt. As for the murder of the bank president's son, I was of two minds. One day I thought Gertrude knew or at least suspected that Jack had done it; the next I feared that it had been Gertrude herself, that night alone on the circular staircase. And then the mother of Lucien Wallace would obtrude herself, and an almost equally good case might be made against her. There were times, of course, when I was disposed to throw all those suspicions aside, and fix definitely on the unknown, whoever that might be.

I had my greatest disappointment when it came to tracing Nina Carrington. The woman had gone without leaving a trace. Marked as she was, it should have been easy to follow her, but she was not to be found. A description to one of the detectives, on my arrival at home, had started the ball rolling. But by night she had not been found. I told Gertrude, then, about the telegram to Louise when she had been ill before; about my visit to Dr. Walker, and my suspicions that Mattie Bliss and Nina Carrington were the same. She thought, as I did, that there was little doubt of it.

I said nothing to her, however, of the detective's suspicions about Alex. Little things that I had not noticed at the time now came back to me. I had an uncomfortable feeling that perhaps Alex was a spy, and that by taking him into the house I had played into the enemy's hands. But at eight o'clock that night Alex himself appeared, and with him a strange and repulsive individual. They made a queer pair, for Alex was almost as disreputable as the tramp, and he had a badly swollen eye.

Gertrude had been sitting listlessly waiting for the evening message from Mr. Jamieson, but when the singular pair came in, as they did, without ceremony, she jumped up and stood staring. Winters, the detective who watched the house at night, followed them, and kept his eyes sharply on Alex's prisoner. For that was the situation as it developed.

He was a tall lanky individual, ragged and dirty, and just now he looked both terrified and embarrassed. Alex was too much engrossed to be either, and to this day I don't think I ever asked him why he went off without permission the day before.

"Miss Innes," Alex began abruptly, "this man can tell us something very important about the disappearance of Mr. Innes. I found him trying to sell this watch."

He took a watch from his pocket and put it on the table. It was Halsey's watch. I had given it to him on the twenty-first birthday; I was dumb with apprehension.

"He says he had a pair of cuff-links also, but he sold them."

"For a dollar and half," put in the disreputable individual hoarsely, with an eye on the detective.

"He is not—dead?" I implored. The tramp cleared his throat.

"No'm," he said huskily. "He was used up pretty bad, but he weren't dead. He was comin' to hisself when I—he stopped and looked at the detective. 'I didn't steal it, Mr. Winters,' he whined. 'I found it in the road, honest to God, I did.'"

Mr. Winters paid no attention to him. He was watching Alex.

"I'd better tell what he told me," Alex broke in. "It will be quicker. When Jamieson—when Mr. Jamieson calls up we can start him right. Mr. Winters, I found this man trying to sell that watch on Fifth street. He offered it to me for $3."

"How did you know the watch?" Winters snapped at him.

"I ha seen it before, many times. I used it at night when I was watching at the foot of the staircase." The detective was satisfied. "When he offered the watch to me, I knew it, and I pretended I was going to buy it. We went into an alley and I got the watch." The tramp shivered. It was plain how Alex had secured the watch. "Then—I got the story from this fellow. He claims to have seen the whole affair. He says he was in an empty car—in the car the automobile struck."

The tramp broke in here and told his story, with frequent interpretations by Alex and Mr. Winters. He used a strange medley, in which familiar words took unfamiliar meanings, but it was gradually made clear to us.

On the night in question the tramp had been "pounding his car"—this struck me as being graphic—in an empty box-car along the siding at Casanova. The train was going west, and due to leave at dawn. The tramp and the "brakey" were friendly, and things going well. About ten o'clock, perhaps earlier, a terrific crash against the side of the car roused him. He tried to open the door, but could not move it. He got out of the other side, and just as he did so, he heard some one groan.

The habits of a lifetime made him cautious. He slipped on to the bumper of a car and peered through. An automobile had struck the car and stood there on two wheels. The tail lights were burning, but the headlights were out. Two men were stooping over some one who lay on the ground. Then the taller of two started on a dog-trot along the train looking for an empty. He found one four cars away and ran back again. The two lifted the unconscious man into the empty box-car, and getting in themselves, stayed for three or four minutes. When they came out, after closing the sliding door, they cut up over the railroad embankment toward the town. One, the short one, seemed to limp.

The tramp was wary. He waited for ten minutes or so. Some women came down a path to the road and inspected the automobile. When they had gone, he crawled into the box-car and closed the door again. Then he lighted a match. The figure of a man, unconscious, gagged, and with his hands tied, lay far at the end. The tramp lost no time; he went through his pockets, found a little money and the cuff-links, and took them. Then he loosened the gag—it had been cruelly tight—and went his way, again closing the door of the box-car. Outside on the road he found the watch. He got on the fast freight east, some time after, and rode into the city. He had sold the cuff-links, but on offering the watch to Alex he had been "copped."

The story, with its cold recital of villainy, was done. I hardly knew if I were more anxious, or less. That it was Halsey, there could be no doubt. How badly he was hurt, how far he had been carried, were the questions that demanded immediate answer. But it was the first real information we had had; my boy had not been murdered outright. But instead of vague rumors there was now the real fear that he might be lying in some strange hospital receiving the casual attention commonly given to the charity cases. Even this, had we known it, would have been paradise to the terrible truth. I wake yet and feel myself cold and trembling with the horror of Halsey's situation for three days after his disappearance.

Labor That Aids the World.

It is true that all wealth comes from labor, but not necessarily from labor by the hands. The thinkers of the world have added instinctively to its development. It was a portrait painter who invented the telegraph, a college professor who produced the telephone, and the list might be extended almost indefinitely. It is well that today, with all our indulgence in rest and play, that we remember that it is intelligently directed energy of whatever kind which makes our better and helps along the world's millennium dawn.

The KITCHEN CABINET

TART temper never mellow with age, and a sharp tongue is the only tool that grows keener with constant use.

—Irving.

Ways of Using Stale Cake.

When the cake is in a loaf it is easy matter to steam it and make a good pudding sauce of eggs and sugar with a little milk and flavoring or a cooked sauce of half a cup of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour and the same of butter, half a cup of boiling water and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook until smooth and flavor with grated nutmeg.

All bits of cake may be worked over into the steamed brown bread, so that nothing need be wasted.

Sweet Fritters.

Take one and a half cupfuls of stale cake crumbs. Beat together one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, one cup of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder; add enough milk to make a thin batter and stir in the crumbs. Bake on a hot griddle as pancakes and serve with syrup.

Another nice dessert with cake may be prepared by laying slices of cake in a serving dish, pour over fruit juice of any desired flavor and fill the dish with a custard. Serve cold.

Economical Pudding.

Beat three eggs, add a cup of sugar and three cups of milk and flavoring. Add two cups of cake crumbs and bake in a slow oven one hour. A little breakfast cereal left over or a little cooked rice may be added to this pudding, and a few raisins, though these are not necessary.

A Few Hints.

When buying a box of laundry soap, which is a good way to do, take it from the box and pile it in a dry place where the air can circulate through it. Dry soap spends much better than green.

Turn the scrub brush bristles down when drying and the moisture will drain out rather than soak into the wood. Velvet ribbons may be freshened by steaming over a wet cloth placed over a hot iron.

Hem the dishcloths to save the lint which ragged edges make, and such cloths will be respected and better used.

A nice umbrella should be carefully dried before putting away, and never left rolled in its case for any length of time, as it is apt to crack in the folds.

LET there be many windows in your soul. That all the glory of the universe May beautify it. Not the narrow pane Of one poor creed can catch the radiant rays That shine from countless sources. Tear away The blinds of superstition. Let the light Pour through fair windows, broad as truth itself. And high as heaven. . . . Tune your ear To all the wordless music of the stars, And to the voice of nature; and your heart Shall turn to truth and goodness as the plant Turns to the sun. A thousand unseen hands Reach down to help you to their peace-crowned heights; And all the forces of the firmament Shall fortify your strength. Be not afraid To thrust aside half truths and grasp the whole.

The Chafing Dish.

To the woman with many servants the chafing dish is a pleasant amusement to the woman who has none it is a pleasant and practical change from the every day serving of things. Sunday night suppers are a delight, prepared from the chafing dish.

To make a success of the meal all the preparations should be carefully made before hand. The butter measured in a tablespoon and made into balls is then ready to use without measuring. The stock or milk may be measured and put into little pitchers. Have the salt, pepper and flour all in a group easy to find. If meat or fish is to be used let it be diced as it is to be served.

See that the lamp is filled and the utensils at hand before inviting out the guests. There are any number of dishes easy to serve from a chafing dish such as creamed eggs, poached, scrambled and omelets. Creamed sweetbreads, creamed mushrooms, oysters in a variety of ways, small birds, fish and chicken.

Good alcohol is expensive, but it does not burn away as fast as the wood alcohol and does not leave the burner covered with the sticky deposit that the wood alcohol does.

A nice way is to serve a cocktail of fruit or a salad while the guests are waiting as you prepare the main dishes. Give each one something to do to help make the time an enjoyable one. Many like to prepare the dishes in the kitchen and simply keep them hot in the chafing dish while serving, but this takes away the pleasure of seeing the dishes made before the eyes, which is enjoyed by everybody.

A chafing dish may be an elaborate and expensive affair or one very simple and and just as useful.

MADE HIS APOLOGY AMPLE

Irish Legislator Even Withdrew the Words That He Was About to Utter.

There is in congress a western representative of Celtic origin who has more than once "stirred up the animals" by his propensity to bait the opposition.

On one occasion he rose to denounce the statements made in a speech that had been delivered by a member of the other party. His impetuosity led him to phrase his remarks rather strongly.

"Order, order!" exclaimed the speaker, pounding with his gavel. Again, in a minute or two, did the son of Erin return to his charge of wilful misstatement. Again was he called to "order."

It was a critical moment. His colleagues, for motives of policy, did not wish him to be put out of the debate, so they hinted so by tugging vigorously at his coat tails.

Now, it's a very dangerous matter to trifle with the tails of an Irishman's coat, save in the cause of friendship. Nevertheless, the indignant yet good-natured member recognized the command of his party and sat down after delivering this Parthian dart:

"I obey the ruling of the House, and I beg to retract what I was about to observe!"

That one touch of Irish oratory took the whole House by storm.—Lippincott's.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come out on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad that I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk."

"My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I sent to a drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed directions. At the end of two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. I can sincerely say that only for Cuticura my child would have died. I used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Ointment."

"I am a nurse and my profession brings me into many different families and it is always a pleasure for me to tell my story and recommend Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 23, 1909."

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Mrs. Ferndale—We haven't any eggs, but I can get some if you want them very bad!

Summerboard—Never mind, I don't care for that kind.

DRINK WATER TO CURE KIDNEYS AND RHEUMATISM

The People Do Not Drink Enough Water to Keep Healthy. Says Well-Known Authority.

"The numerous cases of kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected."

Stop loading your system with medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain, common vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

To cure Rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargos, one ounce; Compound Syrup Serravallo, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, headache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

For the Winter

HANDSOME long coat of plush or fur, finished with shawl collar and deep cuffs of fur, leaves nothing to be desired from the point of style or comfort. It is surmounted by a round turban of satin with a velvet coronet, on which a Persian band, embroidered with gold cord and studded with mock jewels, is mounted about the crown and across the brim. When the latter shows an indentation over the left eye a stiff aigrette is placed. These turbans set down over the head and are worn at a dashing and sometimes a little rakish angle, by the more youthful devotees of fashion. Equally full of style, more adaptable to individual wearers and the perfection of comfort and convenience, is to be found in the soft velvet hats and turbans (which might as properly be called hoods) and can only be accurately named as turban-hoods. They are not made over a frame but are supported by an interlining of some sort, warm and soft. They are lined with silk and worn far down on the head. A little fringe of curls about the forehead and neck is about all the hair that is visible with them.

A soft hat and muff of beaver cloth in mustard color, trimmed with dark brown fox fur, is shown in the second figure. The fur is bordered with old gold lace and the turban finished with two standing plumes in brown and green. This set is from the atelier of the renowned Carlier of Paris. By such clever effects the French rightly earn and keep their prestige.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

FANCY BLOUSE.

Worn with a serge or cloth skirt of the same color this blouse would look very well. It has a yoke of silk and lace ornamented with fancy buttons and loops of cord; the velvet is arranged in flat pleats that are carried from yoke to waist; the sleeve to below elbow is of velvet with cuff of silk, the under-sleeves of lace to match the yoke.

Materials required: 2½ yards velvet 24 inches wide, ¾ yard silk, ¾ yard lace.

Suede and Steel.

A gray suede bag shaped like a fleur-de-lis is most attractive in its unique cut. Its mounting is steel, plain in design, which does not interfere with the outlines of the bag, and the beading differs from that usually seen in that it is done with large instead of small beads.

They measure about an eighth of an inch in diameter and are of fine cut steel. They are used to bring out a pattern on the bag and also to outline its edges, and at the same time to sew the two sides of the bag together.

Life of Underskirts.

When making or buying a petticoat, have it two inches longer than the required length. Put in a one-inch tuck above the hem, which takes up the two inches.

When the bottom ruffle or the hem of the skirt wears, let down the tuck, cut off the ruffle or hem and hem up and you will have a nice clean skirt again, as the bottom always wears first.

BLUE AND BROWN ARE SMART

These Are the Year's Popular Colors, the Latter Especially in its Darker Shades.

Certain colors never go out of fashion and others are doomed to a short life by the very quality that makes them popular. Navy blue is one of the colors whose popularity never seems to fluctuate from season to season, probably because it is so universally becoming. The browns are more variable, but this year they are considered extremely smart, especially in their darker shades—Kaffir, nutmeg, seal and walnut.

In fact, all the new colors are perceptibly darker. Black is the smartest color of the season, but its effect is far from being sober or somber, because it is always relieved by white or by some vivid color. It has had its effect on other colors; the smart blues are almost black, the new greens are the deep shades of teal-leaf and wintergreen; and prune is the most popular shade of purple. Black used to be kept almost entirely for older women, but dressmakers are beginning to appreciate the fact that it is not becoming unless a woman has youth, health and a good color. Even then it has to be broken with blue, green, gold, etc., to give it the life it needs.—Delineator.

Diet and Beauty.

Diet has much to do with the condition of the pores of the face. If food is not suited to the individual and is too rich, the system may try to throw it off by an exudation of oil through the pores. It is this which causes oily complexion, and the first step, of course, is to change the diet.

Such foods should be adopted as are nutritious, easily digested, and lacking in grease.

The list includes milk, eggs, fish, rare meats, rich spinach, beans and the like.

Thick soups, pastries and elaborate desserts should be banished, and plenty of fruit eaten.

Fresh air and careful washing of the face are, of course, necessary accompaniments of the treatment.

Carry Few Toilet Articles.

Women frequently carry many more toilet accessories than are needed. It is perfectly fair to assume that the hostess will have a dressing table equipped, or that she will possess enough pieces for the wants of her guests. Every woman wishes to carry her own brush and comb, but a hand mirror is heavy, and it is expected that one will be provided.

UNABLE TO MOVE.

Helpless With Kidney Trouble But Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

M. C. Walker, 933 Grand Ave., Connersville, Ind., says: "For ten years I suffered from kidney complaint and was on the verge of Bright's disease. I was often so helpless I could not move and neighbors two blocks away heard me scream with pain. I had no control over the kidney secretions and the pain in my back was almost unbearable. After several physicians had failed to help me, I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon relieved. I have had no return of kidney trouble in five years."

Remember the name—Doan's. For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THOUGHT ONLY OF THE GAME

Filial Affection Lost Sight Of by the Small but Enthusiastic Lover of Football.

Among the spectators at a match between the Blackburn Rovers and the Olympic was a little lad about nine years of age. Though the boy's knowledge of the game may have been limited, his notion of correct play was extremely robust.

"Go it, 'Lympic," he yelled. "Rush 'em off their pins. Clatter 'em. Jump on their chests. Bowl 'em over. Good for yer. Mow 'em down. Scatter 'em, 'Lympic."

When his parent neatly "grassed" one of the opposing forwards, the youngster expressed approval by bawling, "Good fer yer, owd 'en," adding proudly to the spectators, "Feyther 'ad 'im sweet."

"Yes," said a hearer, "but he'll get killed before the game's finished."

"I don't care a carrot if he does," said the boy.—London Tit-Bits.

Visitor—Do you think that mosquitoes carry malaria?

Farmer—I dunno; they never took any away from here.

PUTS STOMACHS IN ORDER.

No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Dyspepsia Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapiesin.

There should not be a case of indigestion, dyspepsia or gastritis here if readers who are subject to stomach trouble knew the tremendous antiferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapiesin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odors from the breath.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meal don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from any druggist here in town, and make life worth living. Absolute relief from stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and besides, one fifty-cent case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Pape's Diapiesin, which will always either at daytime or during night, relieve your sick, sour, gassy, upset stomach and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

Where He Fell Down.

Mr. Crimmonbeak—I see Budapest has a school where the students are taught the art of eating.

Mrs. Crimmonbeak—You ought to arrange to go there, John.

"What for?"

"And take a course in spaghetti eating."—Yonkers Statesman.

Resinol in Three Weeks Does What Other Remedies Failed to Do in Four Months.

My baby's face was like a raw and bleeding piece of meat. I was at my wits' ends what to do. Medicine from three physicians and ointment recommended seemed to make the Eczema worse. Then another mother spoke of Resinol, which I procured at once—remember I had no more faith in it than in all the rest I had tried—but I thought it would be wasting only 50c more. Never did I spend 50c to better advantage, for the first and second days I noticed a remarkable change, and now at the end of the third week I have my pretty blue eyed, rosy cheeked, cooling baby well again. I am safe in saying he is perfectly cured and the cure was surely something remarkable. Your Soap and Ointment did in three weeks what everything else I tried failed to do in four months. My baby was positively disfigured, now his complexion is all right again.

Mrs. H. F. Clemmer, Sunbury, Pa.

Back to the Wild.

There was a time when all dogs were wild and when what we call wolves were different from other dogs only as a collie now is different from a Newfoundland, for instance. From time to time you will hear of dogs that have returned to the life of their ancestors and have run wild with the wolves of the prairie or of the woods. In the town of Sandy in Oregon a greyhound one night made the acquaintance of a coyote, which is a kind of wolf, and ever since he has lived away from the town, running with the coyotes and approaching human dwelling-places only to steal a hen or two when he has been more than usually hungry.

Little Myra Explains.

Little Myra Lee had been in school but a few days when her mother had occasion to write a note to the teacher, and signed herself Mrs. Kent. Thinking she might have misunderstood the child's name, the teacher asked an explanation.

"Oh," said Myra, with a charmingly confidential air, "you see, my mamma got married again but I didn't."

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Aikey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ills, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

SIZERVILLE.

We miss "Facts From Four Mile" this week. Can't be their stock has become exhausted, so soon?

The new track is laid through our town and uncle "Bill" Law has the record of running the first engine across the unlucky spot where so many big wrecks have occurred. "Bill" says the new steel bridges will put an end to wrecks at that particular point.

Mr. Chas. McGill, of Milton, severed his connection with the Pennsy carpenter gang and has departed for home. He left many admiring friends behind. He will operate his broom factory during the winter months, he raising large quantities of the corn.

The Box Social was a financial success. Miss Victory netted the snug sum of $60. Miss May Prosser carried off the prize for the most superb box. She greatly enjoyed the distinction as well as her many friends.

J. H. Caton is laid up with an injured knee, having sustained it while handling a heavy plank in his mill. He is confined to the house under the Dr's care. It is hoped the injury will not prove serious.

Chas. Howard and Chas. Hockley are making extensive preparations for swine and squab raising, having all the facilities and natural advantages at their command. They certainly will reap a harvest in the near future and we sincerely hope they may.

R. R. Agent Prosser and family are taking a much needed vacation. They are enjoying the parental roof again of his childhood days, Mr. Farnsworth doing the agency work during his absence.

Mr. Burton, who has charge of the pump station at Shippen, occupies the green house. His family having been seriously ill prevented his moving until of late date. We welcome him to our burg circle.

The new block system is being installed. The p. m., can at all times see when the block is in line.

We hear many expressions of regret that the new public highway is being detained in building as laid out, it having been completed as far as the school house. We predict it's early completion and see the dangerous public grade crossings eliminated.

The mighty hunters are slaying much game around Gardeau, one party being called to Port Allegany to settle for haying bounds in the woods. They came down to the tune of $260 and departed for their homes, wiser and better men. The judge told them to go and sin no more; they "got."
